Songs and their Singers.

Sketches by Phil May.

Japanese Proofs.

2.501

Songs and their Singers

From "Punch"

By Phil May

Japanese Proofs

London: Bradbury, Agnew, & Co. Ld.
1898.

Rowsley House
Holland Park Rd
Kensington. W.

My dear Charles Greene

Thanks for your note. I have just returned from Sheffield and found your note. I am very glad you like "Songs of Three Singers" series. The original are my property and I have been keeping them in hand until the set is Complete. Mr Ernest Brown of the Fine Art Society. 148 New Bond St. has all the arrangements for selling them. I am about to write him. and tell him I should like you to have them at any reasonable price you could arrange.

I should very much like to meet you again some day. if we could arrange it

Kind regards

Yours Sincerely

Phil May

Contents.

"Beauty's Eyes."

"The Heart Bow'd Down."

"We'll all go a Hunting To-day."

"Only This!"

"I'd be a Butterfly."

"Put me in my Little Bed."

"Drink to me only with thine Eyes."

"The gay Tom Tit."

"The Storm Fiend."

"'Tis hard to give the Hand" etc.

"My Mother bids me Bind my Hair.'

"To Blossoms!"

"The Warrior Bold.'

"The Devout Lover."

"There's only one Girl in the World for me!"

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2007 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

http://www.archive.org/details/songstheirsinger00maypuoft

"Beauty's Eyes."

"We'll all go a Hunting To-day."

"I'd be a Butterfly."

"Drink to me only with thine Eyes."

"The Storm Fiend."

"My Mother bids me Bind my Hair."

"The Warrior Bold."

"The Heart Bow'd Down."

"Only This!"

"Put me in my Little Bed."

"The Gay Tom Tit."

"'Tis Hard to Give the Hand, &c."

"To Blossoms!"

"The Devout Lover."

"There's only one Girl in the World for me!"